The National Association of Researchers and Designers of the Russian Federation has announced the International Professional Competition for the Best Project - 2021.

The National Association of Researchers and Designers of the Russian Federation has announced the International Professional Competition for the Best Project - 2021.

The association has invited students, masters and doctoral students studying in higher education institutions of Uzbekistan to participate in the competition.

Projects submitted by bidders must be related to facilities built (implemented) after 2017. In particular, projects created and implemented by young professionals (under 30 years of age), students, masters and doctoral students in a separate nomination will be noted.

The award ceremony of the winners of the international professional competition is scheduled for November 2021 in Moscow. The winners of the competition will present the project presentation materials on the Association's website and present them at exhibitions in the federal districts. Based on the results of the competition, a catalog with a description of all the winning projects will be formed.

Participation in the contest is free.

Deadline for applications: October 11, 2021.

Applications are accepted by e-mail konkurs@nopriz.ru.
